

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE
THE TEMPLE COLLEGE OF PHILADELPHIA, PA

The curriculum embraces a FULL FIVE YEARS' graded course, with sessions of nine months each. The entire work is done in the afternoon and evening. Both sexes are admitted. The next session begins September 14th, 1903. In the subjects of Anatomy, Physiology, Pharmacy, Histology, Chemistry, Pathology, and Bacteriology, laboratory work forms a large part of the method of instruction. The first, second and third years are devoted to laboratory work and didactic instruction; the fourth year is devoted to didactic lectures, general clinics and ward classes; the senior year is devoted almost entirely to bedside and clinical instruction in the hospital.

The senior students are admitted in sections of ten or more to the wards of the SAMARITAN HOSPITAL, where they are thoroughly trained in practical medicine, surgery, obstetrics, and the specialties. The out-patient service in obstetrics constitutes a part of the regular course.

The SAMARITAN HOSPITAL is beautifully-situated on Broad and Ontario streets, the highest elevation on North Broad street. Its medical, surgical, ophthalmological, gynecological and maternity wards are filled to their utmost capacity; and this, together with the large out-patient service of the hospital, affords a wealth of material for clinical instructions.

A NEW AND MODERN CLINICAL AMPHITHEATRE HAS BEEN ERECTED, with accommodations for five hundred students, and a new modern hospital has been added to the hospital buildings.

No. 1639 NORTH BROAD STREET, PHILADELPHIA

Long Distance 'Phone Poplar 66-17A

OUR OBJECT is to elevate the practice of Electro-Therapy to its proper place in medicine, and to attain this purpose we shall allow none but Physicians and Fourth-year Students of Medicine to take our course.

OUR METHODS OF INSTRUCTION, many of which are Original and Peculiarly Our Own, and the Result of a Long and Wide Experience, will be Didactic and Clinical, as opportunity affords; and as we always have an Abundant Clinical Material, there is no other School of Electro-Therapeutics in this country that can give their Students the advantages that we offer.

IN OUR CLINICAL LECTURE HALL, which has a seating capacity for nearly two hundred Physicians, we drill our Students by Practical Work until they have become Thorough, Artistic and Finished in every detail of Electro-Therapeutic Technique.

THIS IS THE FIRST AND ONLY STRICTLY ETHICAL POST-GRADUATE SCHOOL OF ELECTRO-THERAPEUTICS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

A Special Two Weeks' Course of Instruction is given for Twenty-five Dollars to the Busy Practitioner, in which they are taught the care of their machines, the handling of their patients, the practical uses of the Various Electrical Currents, including X-Ray and Ozone treatments, the correct technique of current application, including the laws of resistance, pressure, etc., Choice of Currents, Dosage, Electrodes, etc. This Special Course is given to instruct the Family Physician in a general way, and to fit him for treating all ordinary cases that may come within his general practice.

IN OUR SANITARIUM, which is connected with our School, Physicians can treat their own patients under our supervision when desired, and as our accommodations for the private treatment of Chronic Diseases are of the best, we beg to announce that all patients sent to us by Members of the Profession will receive scientific treatment, and reports of their progress sent daily or weekly, as desired.

NATIONAL CODES OF ETHICS.

Codes of Ethics of the American Medical Association, Adopted May, 1847.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS, AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

Article I.—Duties of Physicians to their Patients.

SECTION 1. A physician should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but his mind ought also to be imbued with the greatness of his mission and the responsibility he habitually incurs in its discharge. Those obligations are the more deep and enduring, because there is no tribunal, other than his own conscience, to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect. Physicians should therefore minister to the sick with due impressions of the importance of their office; reflecting that the ease, the health, and the lives of those committed to their charge depend on their skill, attention, and fidelity. They should study, also, in their deportment, so as to unite tenderness with firmness, and condescension with authority, so as to inspire the minds of their patients with gratitude, respect, and confidence.

SECT. 2. Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention, steadiness, and humanity. Reasonable indulgence should be granted to the mental imbecility and caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy, when required by peculiar circumstances, should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted in their professional visits should be used with discretion, and with the most scrupulous regard to fidelity and honor. The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional service; none of the privacies of personal and domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character observed during professional attendance, should ever be divulged by the physician, except when he is imperatively required to do so. The force and necessity of this obligation are indeed so great that professional men have, under certain circumstances, been protected in their observance of secrecy by courts of justice.

SECT. 3. Frequent visits to the sick are, in general, requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease, to meet promptly every change which may occur, and also to tend to preserve the confidence of the patient. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give useless anxiety to the patient, tend to diminish the authority of the physician, and render him liable to be suspected of interested motives.

SECT. 4. A physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, because they savor of empiricism, by magnifying the importance of his services in the treatment or cure of the disease. But he should not fail, on proper occasions, to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger, when it really occurs; and even to the patient himself, if absolutely necessary. This office, however, is so peculiarly alarming, when executed by him, that it ought to be declined whenever it can be assigned to any other person of sufficient judgment and delicacy. For the physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick; that by such cordials to the drooping spirit he may smooth the bed of death, revive expiring life, and counteract the depressing influence of those maladies which often disturb the tranquillity of the most resigned in their last moments. The life of a sick person can be shortened, not only by the acts, but also by the words or the manner of a physician. It is, therefore, a sacred duty to guard himself carefully in this respect, and to avoid all things which have a tendency to discourage the patient and depress the spirits.

SECT. 5. A physician ought not to abandon a patient because the case is deemed incurable; for his attendance may continue to be highly useful to the patient, and comforting to the relatives around him, even in the last period of fatal malady, by alleviating pain and other symptoms, and by soothing mental anguish. To decline attendance under such circumstances would be sacrificing to fanciful delicacy and mistaken liberality that moral duty which is independent of and far superior to all pecuniary consideration.

SECT. 6. Consultations should be promoted in difficult or protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice.

SECT. 7. The opportunity which a physician not unfrequently enjoys of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of his patients, suffering under the circumstances of vicious conduct, ought never to be neglected. His counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be proffered with politeness, and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

Art. II.—Obligations of Patients to their Physicians.

SECTION 1. The members of the medical profession, upon whom is enjoined the performance of so many important and arduous duties toward the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease, and health for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, certainly have a right to expect and require that their patients should entertain a just sense of the duties which they owe to their medical attendants.

SECT. 2. The first duty of a patient is to select, as his medical adviser, one who has received a regular professional education. In no trade or occupation do mankind rely on the skill of an untaught artist; and in medicine, confessedly the most difficult and intricate of the sciences, the world ought not to suppose that knowledge is intuitive.

SECT. 3. Patients should faithfully and unreservedly communicate to their physician the supposed cause of their disease. This is the more important, as many diseases of a mental origin stimulate those depending on external causes, and yet are only to be cured by ministering to the mind diseased. A patient should never be afraid of thus making his physician his friend and adviser; he should always bear in mind that a medical man is under the strongest obligations of secrecy. Even the female sex should never allow feelings of shame or delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat, symptoms, and causes of complaints peculiar to them. However commendable a modest reserve may be in the common occurrences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with the most serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful and loathsome disease, which might have been readily prevented had timely intimation been given to the physician.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER, AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

Article I.—Duties for the Support of Professional Character.

SECTION 1. Every individual, on entering the profession, as he becomes thereby entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to exert his best abilities to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. He should, therefore, observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of its members; should avoid all contumelious and sarcastic remarks relative to the faculty, as a body; and while, by unwearied diligence, he resorts to every honorable means of enriching the science, he should entertain a due respect for his seniors, who have, by their labors, brought it to the elevated condition which he finds it.

SECT. 2. It is not in accord with the interests of the public or the honor of the profession that any physician or medical teacher should examine or sign diplomas or certificates of proficiency for, or otherwise be specially concerned with, the graduation of persons whom they have good reasons to believe intend to support and practice any exclusive and irregular system of medicine. (Sect. 2 was adopted in Richmond, 1881.)

SECT. 3. There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character and a higher standard of moral excellence is required than the medical; and to attain such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to his profession and to his patients. It is due to the latter, as without it he cannot command their respect and confidence, and to both, because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles. It is also incumbent upon the faculty to be temperate in all things, for the practice of physics requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and in emergencies, for which no professional man should be unprepared, a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded head may be essential to the well-being, and even to the life, of a fellow-creature.

SECT. 4. It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements, or private cards, or handbills, inviting the attention of individuals affected with particular diseases, publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor, gratis, or promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success; or to perform any other similar acts. These are the ordinary practices of empirics, and are highly reprehensible in a regular physician.

SECT. 5. Equally derogatory to professional character is it for a physician to hold a patient for any surgical instrument or medicine; or to dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be the composition or exclusive property of himself or of others. For, if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is also reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of patent or secret medicines, or in any way to promote the use of them.

Art. II.—Professional Services of Physicians to Each Other.

SECTION 1. All practitioners of medicine, their wives, and their children while under the parental care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them, whose assistance may be required. A physician afflicted with disease is usually an incompetent judge of his own case; and the natural anxiety and solicitude which he experiences at the sickness of a wife, a child, or any one who by the ties of consanguinity is rendered peculiarly dear to him, tend to obscure his judgment, and produce timidity and irresolution in his practice. Under such circumstances, medical men are peculiarly dependent upon each other, and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously, as such unasked civility may give rise to embarrassment, or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends. But, if a distant member of the faculty, whose circumstances are affluent, requests attendance, and an honorarium be afforded, it should not be declined, for no pecuniary obligation ought to be imposed which the party receiving it would wish not to incur.

Art. III.—Of the Duties of Physicians as Respects Vicarious Offices.

SECTION 1. The affairs of life, the pursuit of health, and the various accidents and contingencies to which a medical man is peculiarly exposed, sometimes require him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to officiate for him. Compliance with this request is an act of courtesy, which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period, all the pecuniary obligations for such service should be awarded to him. But if a member of the profession neglects his business, in quest of pleasure and amusement, he cannot be considered as entitled to the advantages of the frequent and long-continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy, without awarding to the physician who officiates the fees arising from the discharge of his professional duties.

In obstetrical and important surgical cases, which give rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety and responsibility, it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should be awarded to the physician who officiates.

Art. IV.—Of the Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultation.

SECTION 1. In consultations, no rivalry or jealousy should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised toward the physician having charge of the case.

SECT. 2. In consultations, the attending physician should be the first to propose the necessary questions to the sick; after which the consulting physician should have the opportunity to make such further inquiries of the patient as may be necessary to satisfy him of the true character of the case. Both physicians should then retire to a private place for deliberation, and the one first in attendance should communicate the directions agreed upon to the patient or his friends, as well as any opinions which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion of it should take place before the patient or his friends, except in the presence of all the faculty attending, and by their common consent, and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

SECT. 3. In consultation, the physician in attendance should deliver his opinion first; and when there are several consulting, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called in. No decision, however, should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But such variation, and the reason for it, ought to be carefully detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician, if he is sent for in an emergency, when the regular attendant is out of the way, and similar explanations must be made at the next consultation.

SECT. 4. The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultations together, and this is generally practicable, for society has been considerate enough to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence of all others, and to be an ample reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation. But, as professional engagements may sometimes interfere, and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for his associate a reasonable period, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient, and prescribe; but if he be the consulting one, he should retire, except in case of emergency, or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which latter case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion in writing and under seal, to be delivered to his associate.

SECT. 5. In consultations, theoretical discussions should be avoided, occasioning perplexity and loss of time; for there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

SECT. 6. All discussion in consultation should be held as secret and confidential. Neither by words nor manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or insinuate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent. The responsibility must be equally divided between the medical attendants; they must equally share the credit of success, as well as the blame of failure.

SECT. 7. As circumstances sometimes occur to render a special consultation desirable when the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient, the member of the faculty whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future unsolicited attendance. As such consultations require an extraordinary portion both of time and attention, at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

Art. V.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of Interference.

SECTION 1. Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should found their expectations of practice upon the extent of their qualifications, not on intrigue or artifice.

SECT. 2. A physician, in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another practitioner, should observe the strictest caution and reserve. No meddling inquiries should be made, no disingenuous hints given relative to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor any course of conduct pursued that may directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

SECT. 3. The same circumspection and reserve should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit an individual who is under the direction of another practitioner. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and, when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease or the remedies employed; but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

SECT. 4. A physician ought not to take charge of or prescribe for a patient who has recently been under the care of another member of the faculty in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or been regularly notified that his services are no longer desired. Under such circumstances, no unjust or illiberal insinuations should be thrown out in relation to the conduct or practice previously pursued, which should be justified as far as candor and regard for truth and probity will permit; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they do not experience immediate relief, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the want of success in the first stage of treatment affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge and skill.

SECT. 5. When a physician is called to an urgent case because the family attendant is not at hand, he ought, unless his assistance in consultation be desired, to resign the care of the patient to the latter immediately upon his arrival.

SECT. 6. It often happens, in cases of sudden illness or of recent accidents or injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that a number of physicians are simultaneously sent for. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, who should select from those present any additional assistance that he may deem necessary. In all such cases, however, the practitioner who officiates should request the family physician, if there be one, to be called, and unless his further assistance be requested, should resign the case to the latter on his arrival.

SECT. 7. When a physician is called to the patient of another practitioner, in consequence of the sickness or absence of the latter, he ought, on the return or recovery of the regular attendant, and with the consent of the patient, to surrender the case.

[The expression "patient of another practitioner" is understood to mean a patient who may have been under the charge of another practitioner at the time of the attack of sickness, or departure from home of the latter, or who may have called for his attendance during his absence or sickness, or in any other manner given it to be understood that he regarded the said physician as his regular medical attendant.]

Art. VI.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgments.

Some general rules should be adopted by the faculty in every town or district relative to pecuniary acknowledgments from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

Art. VII.—Duties of the Profession to the Public.

SECTION 1. As good citizens it is the duty of physicians to be ever vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to matters especially appertaining to their profession, as on subjects of medical police, public hygiene, and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations; the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions; in relation to the medical police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.; and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger and to continue their labors for the alleviation of suffering, even at the jeopardy of their own lives.

SECT. 2. Medical men should also be always ready, when called on by the legally constituted authorities, to enlighten coroners' inquests and courts of justice on subjects strictly medical—such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poison or other violent means, and in regard to various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. But in these cases, and especially where they are required to make post-mortem examination, it is just, in consequence of the time, labor and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them a proper honorarium.

SECT. 3. There is no profession by the members of which eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed than the medical; but justice requires that some limit should be placed to the performance of such good offices. Poverty, professional brotherhood, and certain of the public duties referred to in the first section of this article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives, or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, to perform military duty, or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, to obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to individuals in indigent circumstances such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

Code of Ethics of the American Institute of Homœopathy.

SCOPE.

The scope of a Code of Medical Ethics comprises the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and patients; the duties and obligations of physicians to each other; and the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and the public.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES.

The great principles upon which medical ethics are based are these:—

1. The great end and object of the physician's efforts should be, "the greatest good to the patient."
2. The rule of conduct of physicians and patients, and of physicians toward each other, should be the GOLDEN RULE, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

The various articles of the code are only special applications of these great principles.

PART I.

Reciprocal Duties and Obligations of Physicians and Patients.

ARTICLE I. Duties of Physicians to Patients.

ARTICLE II. Duties of Patients to their Physicians.

PART II.

Duties and Obligations of Physicians to Each Other.

ARTICLE I. Duties as Members of the Medical Profession.

ARTICLE II. Professional Services to Each Other.

ARTICLE III. Vicarious Services.

ARTICLE IV. In Regard to Consultations.

ARTICLE V. In Cases of Interference.

ARTICLE VI. Differences between Physicians.

ARTICLE VII. Concerning Pecuniary Obligations.

PART III.

Reciprocal Duties and Obligations of Physicians and the Public.

ARTICLE I. Duties of the Profession to the Public.

ARTICLE II. Obligations of the Public to Physicians.

Code of Ethics of the National Eclectic Medical Association.

SECTION 1. The members of this Association shall exercise toward each other, toward all physicians—eclectics especially—and toward all mankind, that courtesy and just dealing to which every one in his legitimate sphere is entitled, and any departure therefrom shall be deemed unprofessional, undignified, and unworthy the honorable practitioner of an honorable profession. It shall be regarded as unbecoming to engage in any form of practice, or of advertising, which shall tend to lower the physician in the esteem of the community, or to reflect discredit upon his professional associates.

SECT. 2. While it is the undoubted right of every physician to present himself before the public in an honorable manner, and to state that he makes a specialty of any particular disease, no member of this Association shall advertise himself by handbills, circulars, publication of certificates of cures, or any such means; nor associate himself in business professionally with any one so doing; nor advertise himself as belonging to this Association, or any auxiliary medical society, or any medical college. Any member knowing of any violation of this provision by members of this Association, or of any person not a member of this Association or any auxiliary medical society advertising himself as such, shall inform the Executive Committee of the matter, with all the facts in his possession; and it shall be the duty of the Executive Committee thereupon to publish the facts in some public journal circulating in the region where such offense has been committed.

Discipline of Members.

SECTION 1. Any member may be officially censured, invited to withdraw, or expelled from membership, for improper conduct, or a violation of professional comity. But it shall be necessary for a specific charge to be made in writing, and a copy to be presented to the person accused, or some person acting in his behalf, and another placed in the hands of the president or secretary one month before the time of holding a regular meeting.

SECT. 2. All professors or officers of colleges voting and otherwise coöperating in the conferring of the degree of Doctor of Medicine on any person not duly entitled to the same, by the necessary attendance on medical lectures and through examinations, shall be considered as liable to the penalties enumerated in this article.

CODE OF DENTAL ETHICS

ADOPTED AT THE SIXTH ANNUAL SESSION OF THE AMERICAN DENTAL ASSOCIATION.

Article I.—The Duties of the Profession to their Patients.

SECTION 1. The dentist should be ever ready to respond to the wants of his patrons, and should fully recognize the obligations involved in the discharge of his duties toward them. As they are, in most cases, unable to correctly estimate the character of his operations, his own sense of right must guarantee faithfulness in their performance. His manner should be firm, yet kind and sympathizing, so as to gain the respect and confidence of his patients; and even the simplest case committed to his care should receive that attention which is due to operations performed on living sensitive tissue.

SECT. 2. It is not to be expected that the patient will possess a very extended or a very accurate knowledge of professional matters. The dentist should make due allowance for this, patiently explaining many things which may seem quite clear to himself, thus endeavoring to educate the public mind so that it will properly appreciate the beneficent efforts of our profession. He should encourage no false hopes by promising success, when, in the nature of the case, there is uncertainty.

SECT. 3. The dentist should be temperate in all things, keeping both mind and body in the best possible health, that his patients may have the benefit of that clearness of judgment and skill which is their right.

Art. II.—Maintaining Professional Character.

SECTION 1. A member of the dental profession is bound to maintain its honor, and to labor earnestly to extend its sphere of usefulness. He should avoid everything in language and conduct calculated to dishonor his profession, and should ever manifest a due respect for his brethren. The young should show special respect to their seniors; the aged special encouragement to their juniors.

SECT. 2. The person and office arrangements of the dentist should indicate that he is a gentleman; and he should sustain a high-toned moral character.

SECT. 3. It is unprofessional to resort to public advertisements, cards, handbills, posters or signs, calling attention to peculiar styles of work, lowness of price, special modes of operating; or to claim superiority over neighboring practitioners; to publish reports of cases or certificates in the public prints; to go from house to house to solicit or perform operations; to circulate or recommend nostrums; or to perform any other similar acts.

SECT. 4. When consulted by the patient of another practitioner, the dentist should guard against inquiries or hints disparaging to the family dentist, or calculated to weaken the patient's confidence in him; and if the interests of the patient will not be endangered thereby, the case should be temporarily treated, and referred back to the family dentist.

SECT. 5. When general rules shall have been adopted by members of the profession practicing in the same localities in relation to fees, it is unprofessional and dishonorable to depart from those rules, except when variation of circumstances requires it. And it is ever to be regarded as unprofessional to warrant operations or work as an inducement to patronage.

Art. III.—The Relative Duties of Dentists and Physicians.

Dental surgery is a specialty in medical science. Physicians and dentists should both bear this in mind. The dentist is professionally limited to diseases of the dental organs and the mouth. With these he should be more familiar than the general practitioner is expected to be; and while he recognizes the superiority of the physician in regard to diseases of the general system, the latter is under equal obligations to respect his higher attainments in his specialty. When this principle governs, there can be no conflict or even diversity of professional interests.

Art. IV.—The Mutual Duties of the Profession and the Public.

Dentists are frequent witnesses, and, at the same time, the best judges of the impositions perpetrated by quacks, and it is their duty to enlighten and warn the public in regard to them. For this and the many other benefits conferred by the competent and honorable dentists, the profession is entitled to the confidence and respect of the public, who should always discriminate in favor of the true man of science and integrity, against the empiric and impostor. The public has no right to tax the time and talents of the profession in examinations, prescriptions, or in any way without proper remuneration.

PENNSYLVANIA MEDICAL LAWS.

The Medical Council, a body composed of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Attorney-General, the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the President of the State Board of Health and the Presidents of three State Boards of Medical Examiners, have the supervision of the examination of candidates to practice medicine in the State. These, except the Secretary and Treasurer, serve without pay. There are also appointed by the Governor three Boards of Medical Examiners of seven members each, representing the several medical societies of the State of Pennsylvania, the regular, the homœopathic and eclectic, from lists furnished by them. The fees for examinations, after payment of current expenses, are apportioned pro rata to the members of the several examining boards, according to the number of candidates examined by each. These boards submit to the Medical Council a list of questions from which the Council makes up the questions for each examination. The examinations, which are in writing, are conducted by the respective boards and the results transmitted to the Council, which issues the license to those who have successfully passed.

"A preliminary examination shall be required from all candidates for medical license in the following branches, to wit, arithmetic, grammar, geography, orthography, American history, physiology and hygiene, and English composition. The diploma of a college, diploma of an academy, seminary, normal school or high school or a teacher's permanent certificate; or a student's certificate of examination for admission to the freshman class in a literary college, shall be accepted in lieu of such examination." Preliminary examinations are held under direction of the Medical Council in June preceding the examinations by the State Examining Boards, and in October after the opening of the medical colleges, at Philadelphia and in Western Pennsylvania.

Section 13 of the medical practice law reads: "From and after the first day of July, 1894, any person not heretofore authorized to practice medicine and surgery in this State, and desiring to enter upon such practice, may deliver to the Secretary of the Medical Council, upon the payment of a fee of $25, a written application for license, together with satisfactory proof that the applicant is more than 21 years of age, is of good moral character, and has obtained a competent common school education, and has received a diploma conferring the degree of medicine from some legally incorporated medical college of the United States, or a diploma or license conferring the full right to practice all the branches of medicine and surgery in some foreign country. Applicants who shall have received their degree in medicine after the first day of July, 1894, must have pursued study of medicine for at least three years, including three regular courses of lectures, in different years, in some legally incorporated medical college or colleges, prior to granting of said diploma, or foreign license, and after the first day of July, 1895, such applicants must have pursued the study of medicine for at least four years, including three regular courses of lectures, in different years, in some legally incorporated medical college, or colleges, prior to the granting of said diploma or foreign license. Such proof shall be made, if required, upon affidavit. Upon the making of said payment and proof, the Medical Council, if satisfied with the same, shall issue to said applicant an order for examination before such one of the State Boards of Medical Examiners as the applicant for license may select. In case of failure at any such examination the candidate, after expiration of six months, and within two years, shall have the privilege of a second examination by the same board to which application was first made, without the payment of an additional fee; and it is provided further, that applicants examined and licensed by the State Board of Medical Examiners of State Boards of Health of other States, on payment of a fee of $15 to the Medical Council, and on filing in the office of the Medical Council a copy of such license, certified by the affidavit of the President and Secretary of such Board, showing also that the standard of acquirements adopted by the said State Board of Medical Examiners or State Board of Health, is substantially the same as is provided by Sections 11, 12 and 13 of this act, shall without further examination receive a license conferring on the holder thereof all the rights and privileges provided by Sections 14 and 15 of this act."

Licenses must be registered with the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas and in the county of residence; fee $1. The law contains a reciprocity clause, but only certificates of New York are accepted and (until recently, New Jersey). The usual exemptions of government officers, outside consultants, border practice, etc., are made in the law.—Journal of the American Medical Association.

PENNSYLVANIA DENTAL LAWS.

It is enacted that from and after the first day of September, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, there shall be and continue to be a Board of Dental Examiners for the State of Pennsylvania, which shall consist of six members, and each of said members shall serve for a term of three years from the first day of September next after his appointment, with the exception of those first appointed, who shall serve as follows, namely: Two for one year, two for two years, and two for three years from the first day of September, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven. The Pennsylvania State Dental Society may, at its annual meeting in one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and annually thereafter at said meeting, select as nominees the names of double the number of examiners required, who shall be members in good standing of the society, and transmit such names to the Governor under its seal and signed by its secretary. From this list of nominees the Governor shall, during the month of August, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, appoint a Board of Dental Examiners. In case of failure of the said Pennsylvania State Dental Society to submit such list, as aforesaid, the Governor shall appoint members in good standing of the said society without other restrictions. Each one of the said appointees must be a registered, bona fide, practitioner of dentistry in good standing, and shall have practiced dentistry under the laws of this State for a period of not less than ten years. No member of a Dental College faculty shall be eligible to appointment upon the State Board of Dental Examiners, but this shall not apply to membership in the Dental Council. The Governor shall fill vacancies by death or otherwise for the unexpired term of said examiners, from the list of names submitted to him by the Dental Society, and shall remove any member of said Board for continued neglect of the duties required by this act, or on recommendation of the said Dental Society for incompetency, unprofessional or dishonorable conduct. The Governor shall, in his first appointments, designate the number of years for which each appointee shall serve. The appointment of successors to those members whose term of office shall expire on the first day of September of each year, shall be made by the Governor during the month of August of such year, upon the same conditions and requirements as hereinbefore specified with reference to the appointment of the Examining Board.

Said Board shall be known by the name and style of Board of Dental Examiners of the State of Pennsylvania. Every person who shall be appointed to serve on said Board shall receive a certificate of appointment from the Secretary of the Commonwealth. Said Board shall be authorized to take testimony concerning all matters within its jurisdiction, and the presiding officer, for the time being, of the said Board or of any of the committees thereof, may issue subpoenas and administer oaths to witnesses. Said Board of Examiners shall make and adopt all necessary rules and regulations and by-laws, not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of this State or of the United States, whereby to perform the duties and transact the business required under the provisions of this act. Said rules, regulations and by-laws to be subject to the approval of the Dental Council of Pennsylvania established by this act.

From the fees provided by this act, the Examining Board may pay all expenses incurred by its provisions in the conduct of its business as a Board, after having apportioned and paid to the Dental Council a sum, not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100), to liquidate the expenses incident to the conduct of the business of said Council; and if any surplus above said expenses shall remain at the end of the year, it shall be apportioned among said examiners, pro rata, according to the number of candidates examined by each, not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500) to each examiner, and any balance over and above this amount shall be paid into the Treasury of the Commonwealth.

The first meeting of the said Examining Board shall be held on the first day of October in one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, suitable notice in the usual form being given with the notice of their appointment by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each of the members thereof, specifying the time and place of meeting. At the first meeting of the said Board an organization shall be effected by the election, from their own membership, of a president and secretary. For the purpose of examining applicants for license, the State Board of Dental Examiners shall hold two or more stated or special meetings each year, due notice of which shall be made public at such time and place as they may determine. At such stated or special meetings a majority of the members of the Board shall constitute a quorum thereof, but the examinations may be conducted by a committee of one or more of the examiners duly authorized by said Board.

Subjects for examination: All candidates for license to practice dentistry in the State of Pennsylvania (with the exception of those otherwise provided for in Section twelve of this act), shall be required to pass an examination by the State Board of Dental Examiners upon the following subjects:

1. General anatomy and physiology.
2. Special dental anatomy.
3. Dental histology.
4. Dental physiology.
5. Chemistry and metallurgy.
6. Materia Medica.
7. Dental pathology, bacteriology and therapeutics.
8. Anesthesia.
9. Oral surgery.
10. Principles and practice of operative and prosthetic dentistry.

Each applicant shall also furnish to the Board of Dental Examiners satisfactory evidence of his or her proficiency in the manipulative procedures of dentistry, either by producing an example of his or her work, duly attested by the demonstrator in charge of the clinic of the college issuing his or her diploma, or by a practical demonstration of his or her skill in the presence of the examining members of said Board.

Said examinations shall be conducted in writing and shall embrace all the subjects named in Section nine of this act. After each examination the Board having charge thereof shall, without unnecessary delay, act upon the same. An official report of such action, signed by the president and secretary and each acting member of the said Board of Dental Examiners, stating the examination average of each candidate in each branch, the general average, and the results of the examination, whether successful or unsuccessful, shall be transmitted to the Dental Council. The said report shall embrace all the examination papers, questions and answers thereto. All such examination papers shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs and kept for reference and inspection for a period of not less than five years.

On receiving from the said Board of Dental Examiners such official report of the examination of any applicant for license, the Dental Council shall issue forthwith to each applicant who shall have been returned as having successfully passed said examination a license to practice dentistry in the State of Pennsylvania. Every license to practice dentistry, issued pursuant to this act, shall be subscribed by the officers of the Dental Council and by each Dental Examiner who reported the licentiate as having successfully passed said examinations. It shall also have affixed to it by the person authorized to affix the same, the seal of this Commonwealth, before said license shall be issued. It shall be recorded in a book to be kept in the office of the Dental Council, and the number of the book and page therein containing said recorded copy shall be noted upon the face of said license. Said records shall be open to public inspection, under the proper restrictions as to their safe keeping, and in all legal proceedings such records and copies or exemplifications thereof, certified by the secretary of the Dental Council, under seal, shall have the same weight as evidence that is given to records and certified copies of deeds for the conveyance of land.

On and after the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, any person not heretofore authorized to practice dentistry in this State, and desiring to enter upon such practice, may deliver to the secretary of the Dental Council, upon the payment of a fee of fifteen (15) dollars, a written application for license, together with satisfactory proof that the applicant is not less than twenty-one years of age, is of good moral character, has obtained a competent common school education, and has received a diploma conferring the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery, or other recognized dental degree, from a reputable institution of the United States, recognized as of good repute by the Board of Dental Examiners of this State, and legally competent to confer the same, or a diploma, or a license conferring the full right to practice the branches of dentistry in some foreign country. Applicants who have received their degree in dentistry after the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, must have pursued the study of dentistry for at least three years, including three regular courses of lectures, each extending over a period of at least six months in separate years, in some legally incorporated dental college or colleges, prior to the granting of said diploma or foreign license. Such proof shall be made, if required, upon affidavit. Upon making such payment and proof the Dental Council, if satisfied with the same, shall issue to such applicant an order for examination before the State Board of Dental Examiners. In case of failure at any such examination, the candidate, after the expiration of six months and within two years, shall have the privilege of a second examination by the said Board, without the payment of an additional fee; but for any other subsequent examination he shall pay the usual fees prescribed in this act. And it is further provided that applicants examined and licensed by the State Boards of Dental Examiners, or State Boards of Health of other States, on payment of a fee of ten (10) dollars to the secretary of the Dental Council, and on filing in the office of the Dental Council a copy of said license, certified with the affidavit of the president and secretary of such Board, showing that the standard of requirements adopted by the said State Board of Dental Examiners or State Board of Health is substantially the same as provided by Sections nine and twelve of this act, shall, without further examination, receive a license conferring on the holder thereof all the rights and privileges provided by Sections thirteen and fourteen of this act.

From and after the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, it shall not be lawful for any person in the State of Pennsylvania to enter upon the practice of dentistry, unless he or she has complied with the provisions of this act, and has exhibited to the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which he or she desires to practice dentistry, a license duly granted to him or her as hereinbefore provided; whereupon he or she shall be entitled, upon the payment of one dollar, to be duly registered in the office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas in the said county; and any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county wherein the offense has been committed, shall pay a fine of not less than fifty (50) dollars nor more than two hundred (200) dollars for each offense.

Nothing in this act shall be construed to interfere with or punish physicians or surgeons, in the regular practice of their profession, from extracting teeth for the relief of pain, or making applications for such purpose, or shall interfere with or prevent bona fide students of dentistry, in the regular course of their instruction, from operating upon patients at clinics, or under the immediate supervision and in the presence of their preceptor, who is in lawful practice, provided that no fee, salary or other reward for such operations shall be received, either directly or indirectly, under any circumstances by any student of dentistry. And nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the practice of dentistry within this Commonwealth by any practitioner who shall have been duly registered in accordance with the laws of this Commonwealth existing prior to the passage of this act, and one such registry under this act shall be sufficient warrant to practice dentistry in any county in this Commonwealth.

All disbursements of money, provided for above in this act, shall be made by the secretary of the Dental Council upon the instructions of the Dental Council, who shall give all such instructions by resolutions in such case adopted by a quorum, as defined in Section two of this act.

The acts of April seventeenth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six; June twentieth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, and of June tenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, regulating the practice of dentistry in this State, and all other acts or parts of acts of Assembly inconsistent herewith, shall be and are hereby repealed.

Approved—The 9th day of July, A. D. 1897.

THE MEDICO-CHIRURGICAL COLLEGE OF PHILADELPHIA

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE

The course is carefully graded and covers four sessions of eight months each. Advanced standing to graduates of recognized academic or scientific colleges who have completed the requisite biological work preparatory to medicine, and to students from accredited medical colleges who present satisfactory credentials.

Instruction thoroughly practical. Noteworthy features are free quizzing in all branches; ward classes, limited in size, clinical conferences and modified seminar methods of teaching. Particular attention is given to laboratory work and to bedside and ward-class teaching, for which the clinical facilities are unequaled, the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital Report for 1902 showing over 2,300 ward cases and over 56,000 visits to the dispensaries. The largest and finest clinical amphitheatre in America, thoroughly equipped new laboratories, and a modern hospital remodeled and reconstructed throughout.

For announcements or further information address,

SENECA ROBERT, M.D., Dean
Seventeenth and Cherry Streets, Philadelphia, Pa.

MEDICO-CHIRURGICAL COLLEGE OF PHILADELPHIA

DEPARTMENT OF DENTISTRY

The fall session commences in September, the regular session in October, and continues seven months; examinations and graduating exercises being held concurrently with those of the Medical and Pharmacy Departments.

A thorough course, including lectures, demonstrations, and quizzes will be given, thereby insuring to the student an eminently practical and scientific dental education.

Catalogues may be obtained by addressing

ROBERT H. NONES, D. D. S., Dean

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY

The course extends over a period of two years of seven months each, at the end of which time the student receives the Degree of Graduate of Pharmacy (Ph.G.)

The Degree of Doctor of Pharmacy (Pharm. D.) is given to Graduates of Pharmacy who take a third year in this College.

Students of Pharmacy have the benefit of association with the large number of students in the Departments of Medicine and Dentistry, and at the same time have the advantages of individual instruction, which is one of the important features of the curriculum of this institution. They also have free access to the various clinics and branches of medical and dental teaching of the Medico-Chirurgical College.

The lectures will be fully illustrated by specimens, charts, and lantern slides, and supplemented by class work in the laboratories. Special attention is given to practical work of Pharmacy.
